SARGASSO

EARLHAM COLLEGE

Richmond, Indiana

A QUIET SUNDAY MORNING . . .

. . . OF RELIGION

The religious impressions we gathered at Earlham were not necessarily all of a formal nature. Many times our appreciation and acknowledgment of a greater force than man came from a moment's study of a flower or cloud, or by the sudden illumination of a truth in a discussion with friends and distinguished visitors. To many students the lasting impression will be the simple, austere meetinghouse and the guidance and strength received there.

... TO STUDY ...

Of all the impressions Earlham will give, those of an academic nature will remain the longest, for these will be brought to mind by our work and by our contacts with other people wherever we are. What we have learned in classroom lectures, in group discussions, and in individual research will mold our lives.

LONG HOURS IN THE LAB ...

DOWN THE LONG WINDING TRAIL TOGETHER . . .

THEY COULD HAVE DANCED ALL NIGHT . . .

..OF SOCIAL WHIRL

Perhaps the crowning impression of social life at Earlham came with the big dance and its parties afterward. While social whirl may be a misnomer, nevertheless the walks in the cemetery, the trips to the Tiv, and the pig's dinners at Miller's — all with that certain person — were something extra special.

. . . SPONTANEOUS FUN

GOREN IN ALL HIS GLORY . . .

The impressions of the fun we had with our friends when our time could have been spent in more serious pursuits will remain long after the names have faded. Remember the shaving cream fights, the harmonizing of the fabulous Del Rays, the feel of ice-stiffened clothes, and the mental relaxation that came with a game of bridge? They were an unplanned but important part of our college year.

SPORTS

When the game is over, few people remember the score. Instead as spectators we will retain the impression of a blur of colorful uniforms, the antics and infectious excitement of the cheerleaders. If we were players we would remember the long hours of practice, the butterflies before the game, and the cheers of the crowd. And all this will be true whether it was a varsity or intramural game; whether we won or lost.

PRESIDENT LANDRUM BOLLING

Each year is a special year for a particular group of students and each Sargasso is, in its own way, a very special yearbook. Those of us who have been fortunate enough to be at Earlham during 1959-60 will forever share a host of memories — amusing, exciting, satisfying, challenging.

We shall not forget among our visitors such vivid personalities as Margaret Mead (and her warnings against early marriages and family-centered "togetherness"); or Senator John F. Kennedy arriving in Goddard on the eve of Earlham's mock convention, voiceless but smiling; or the Roy Harrises — their music, their wit, and their charm; or William G. Pollard the great nuclear physicist and Episcopal priest speaking in All-College Meeting.

We shall remember the Cross Country and Track Teams' undefeated season, the basketball team's triumph over Ball State (and its fine overall record), the first football victory in three years — and students defeating the faculty at cricket. We shall cherish a common pride in the Concert Choir and its enthusiastically reviewed debut at Carnegie Recital Hall and the talented dramatic works of Mask and Mantle.

Each of us will have his own memories of solid lectures and of exciting tutorials or seminars. Each will recall some book that opened a new window.

Most of all, as one of the Earlham community, I hope we will all keep alive within us the knowledge that here at Earlham we could dare to be ourselves, we could dare to face the dream of what we might become. In later years, as we thumb through these pages, may some of the promise of this year come back to us as a witness and a challenge.

Doane Award

Philosophy professor, Dr. Grimsley T. Hobbs, is the 1960 recipient of the Ira Doane Distinguished Teacher Summer Travel Award. The award of $3,000 will enable Dr. Hobbs and his wife to travel in Europe and spend a month of extensive touring in Greece. Former recipients of the award were Dr. Murvel Garner, who traveled in Mexico and Dr. J. Arthur Funston who, with his family, spent last summer in England. Dr. Hobbs said, "It will mean a great deal to stand in Athens, to travel to Sparta and Corinth, and to visit other Greek towns mentioned in Plato's dialogues."

"GENTLEMEN SONGSTERS" — THE HARVARD GLEE CLUB

Diversified is the word for the guest speakers and artists who visited the campus during the past year. From lectures by Margaret Mead to the superb performance by one of the best contemporary cellists, Janos Starker, Earlhamites were informed, interested and entertained. Lilly lecturers Albert Outler and Thomas Clink provided much food for thought and discussion.

A Goal Is Reached; A New Life Begins

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE PRESIDENT.

A PROUD PARENT

The familiar strains of "Hail to Thee Our Dear Old Earlham," the warmth of the June day, the best wishes of friends, the satisfaction of a job well done, and the nostalgic pangs of departure mixed with the expectancy of the future made a commencement impression that the class of 1960 will long remember.

TRADITION AT EARLHAM COMMENCEMENT MEANS A SUNLIT

Senate found itself sharing the limelight with more spectacular events on campus this year. Mel Keiser's resounding gavel opened meetings at which policies ranging from the perennial and thorny question of the Honor Code to the purchase of a TV set for the Earlham Hall social lounge were discussed. The allotment of $40.00 to Crucible for a special section raised a host of questions: what was Senate planning to do with its $3000 surplus? who do the Senators REALLY represent? The answers to these questions became campaign issues in the March elections. With the increased interest in the workings of 3/3, Senate Academic Committee played a vital role as link between student opinion and administration policies.

The Ionian Society (a men's literary organization) is responsible for various campus activities. In conjunction with the Phoenix Band the group sponsors annually the orphan Christmas party in Earlham Hall. They also planned the Homecoming Dance — "Autumn Fantasy."

Helping orphans find happiness at Christmas and Earlhamites find one another are only two of the Phoenix Band's many activities. The organization, headed by Dottie Deisher, welcomes all EC girls who show interest and enthusiasm in the work of the Band.

According to president-elect, Fred Feitler, the AMR should "be a contributing factor in giving us a well-rounded social as well as academic education. This year, under Bart Kleinfeldt, the AMR held two big Open Houses in Barrett and Bundy as well as regular Sunday "open dorms." Bull sessions with Wayne Booth as moderator, were held to discuss the new 3/3 plan.

To keep in check the women residents of the college, AWS, the sometime friend but more often foe of EC men, formulated rules regarding hours, off campus trips, and travel in cars. AWS organized the spectacular Christmas Open House complete with food, dance band, and a prize for the best hall decorations. This year the prize went to Robert Hall's "Santa's Workshop."

Mayor Steve Hoskins

"Save the Village from the bulldozers" was the cry of the people of one of the youngest towns in existence — our own Campus Village. The protest, led by Mayor Steve Hoskins, was: "Is knowledge in the form of a new library to supersede happiness in the form of marriage?"

A Part of College — Campus Village and Day Dodgers

Providing a link between the Richmond community and the College, the day students (those of two homes — EC for learning and the other for sleeping) on occasion found themselves missing out on important activities through "lack of communication." The Day Dodger Organization is working to solve this important problem.

Starting at the end of one year and working until the end of the next becomes a long, and sometimes tedious job. It requires late hours, persistence and tears. There have been a full share of let-downs and missed deadlines; tempers have flared and teeth have gnashed. But the experience gained from the labors behind the bright cover and shiny pages can never be matched. Just ask us about it sometime (when you have a week-end to spare!)

Post Gives Campus Weekly News Reports

The mass migration from the picturesque but ineffective, small Post Hole to its new and professional-looking headquarters in Bundy Basement was carried off without a hitch, and the Post continued to appear under doors on Thursday nights. Controversial editorials from the pen of eg and the mock CCB budget highlighted the year's publication of the EC newspaper. A serious effort to keep Earhamites informed of current affairs was instituted in "On the Line."

STUDENTS GAIN VALUABLE EXPERIENCE IN CRUCIBLE TUTORIAL.

Everyone on campus becomes his own literary critic twice a year with the publication of Crucible representing at EC the deep thought department. Drawing from the diverse talents of EC poets, playwrights, artists, and essayists, the literary magazine gives to the whole community a glimpse of the Beaux Arts. This year's editor was Topher Nye.

Throughout the Year S. U. C. Sponsors Entertainment

The Student Union Committee is responsible for the social facilities of Earlham Hall in the Commons, gameroom, dining room, and social lounge. To provide a means of relaxation for the students this year, SUC purchased a pool table, ping pong table and TV set. In providing enjoyable entertainment for all students, SUC presented the Ralph Marterie Jazz Concert and the Harvard Glee Club, plus numerous faculty-student bull sessions, dinner dances, folk singers, and Commons Nights such as Bohemian Night. As last year, the Commons was under the student management of Dave Brantingham.

Choir and Chorus Give Music to Earlam

Concert Choir, under the direction of Len Holvik, was a special delight to the EC community with its excellent performances in All College Meetings and Convocations. The choir gave Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" in February. Climaxing their season was the successful Spring Tour which included a performance in Carnegie Hall. The critics raved.

This year the Earlam Chorus under the direction of Larry Apgar replaced the Meetinghouse Choir. The 75 member group sang in local churches and for EC functions and in co-operation with M&M, presented the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera "Trial By Jury."

Monthly meetings of the Young Friends helped lay the groundwork for the numerous activities which the group undertook. Playing an active role in Christian work and Deputations, Y-F also held barn dances and picnics.

Religious Organizations On Campus

Under the forward leadership of Wilmer Cooper and Chairman Carol Linden, Deputations instituted a new system which allows the teams to present a more coordinated and effective service to the Friends Meetings than has been provided in the past.

The Methodists comprise the second largest religious denomination at Earlham and it is natural, therefore, that they are such an active one. MSM, meeting at Yokefellow House, worked with the Central Methodist Church and EC Deputations teams.

In an effort to provide financial aid to foreign students coming to Earlham, ISAC sponsored the annual Hobo Day in the fall, several Foodless Banquets, and the Classics Concert. It also brought EC "Picnic" and "From Here to Eternity."

Mask and Mantle this year completed its 40th season of quality drama production for the EC community. The 1959-60 season began with Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" with Dave Deacon and Carol Watkins in leading roles. The sets of Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard," designed by director Charlie Matthews, were extremely imaginative and artistic. Rated the best production of the year by most, Miller's "Death" starred Dave Deacon, Joan Sakalas, Jack Harrell, and Seth Gerchberg.

Special credit goes to John Darling for his superb lighting job. The tragi-comedy, "Juno and the Paycock" is both difficult to act and direct, but Art Little's troupe did a very creditable job which was well received by critics. For "Dido and Aeneas" a harpsichord was imported from Cincinnati and Hazel Nordsieck took over when Marjory Barker became ill with influenza. Actor-director-producer-playwright Deacon's "The Wise Fool" made a hit with the audiences.

Under the supervision of co-chairmen Jay Sim-sarian and Phyllis Hollander, the annual Campus Chest Drive reached its goal — $1200 (plus $.57). ## You and the Night and the Music

Dances at EC continue to play a major part in the overall social picture. Aside from the traditional Homecoming, Christmas, Valentine, and May Day Dances, there are numerous lesser dances, including informal record hops after games and square dances often featuring callers Dan Kinsey and Jack Bailey.

The All-College Outing was a smashing success. Approximately one-third of the student body, along with faculty and children, traveled in bus convoy to Lake Shakamak for a completely "lost" week-end. Those who had brought books were forced to give them up in preference to boating, hiking, or "accidental" falls into the lake. Co-chairman Jo Ann Pease and John Powell, together with a crew of hard working students, organized the event which we hope will always be a part of Earlham life.

May Day Brings Climax of Campus Social Season

The traditional (rainy) Old English May Day had much in common with Homecoming — both wet and cold. An old English atmosphere prevailed, complete with a chorus of wandering madrigal singers, Dave Deacon's masquers, maids of the May Pole, and a troupe of tumblers for the amusement of Her Majesty, Sara Nell Gottschalk and Robin Hood, Jack Harrell. A faculty-student cricket match, the Earlham Relays and the dance, "Mirror of May," completed the full spring week-end.

Football fans who'd been heard to mutter the old Brooklyn rallying cry, "Wait 'til next year!" in their sleep, had reason to believe that the '59 season held portentous promise. A new head coach, 17 returning lettermen, and the largest turnout of hopefuls in many years all seemed to point to a new brand of football at EC. However, inexperience combined with 7 weekends of rain resulted in defeat. But all this was forgotten standing THAT Sunday morning in the rain, waiting for the bus bearing the conquering heroes home from UIC.

EARLHAM AND CALVIN RACE FOR THE BALL.

For the first time in the eight year history of the sport at Earlham, the soccer squad failed to establish a winning record. Coach Matlack's team was essentially a "green" one, rebuilding from the heavy graduation losses of last June. Scores were close, however, and the team was a much better one than the 3—6—1 record would seem to indicate. Although the Quaker booters chalked up only three wins (Kenyon, Calvin, and U of Dayton), they out-scored their opponents in total goals 29—26. Most of the losses were by the narrow margin of one or two goals.

The Earlham basketball team, coached by Don Meek, established an impressive record, winning twelve contests while dropping only seven. Although the Quaker hoopsters hovered around the .500 mark for the first half of the season, they won seven of their last eight games.

Highlights of the season included the victory in the William Penn Tournament during Christmas vacation and a record-breaking 114-point performance against Goshen in the last contest of the season.

Bob Foster averaged 15.2 points per game to lead the Quakers, and received valuable support from Bill Himelick, Ron Reeves, and Murray Vincent.

It's Spring — Baseball

The Earlham diamond-nine was a much improved team over last year's club. The fine pitching of freshman Herb Bonkowsky was an important factor in the new look of 1960, as was the performance of catcher Bill Swinney, 1st sacker Kent Thomas, and outfielder Jerry Stauffer. In general Coach Oberle's team was strong at the plate, but suffered periodic lapses on the field. Bad weather and poor hitting resulted in defeat in the Earlham Challenge Tourney.

The EC golfers, under Bob Wood, finished the season with a fine 7 and 4 record. Led by their number one man and captain, Bart Kleinfeldt, the linksmen chalked up a 4-game winning streak which included an 8—7 victory over Wabash and blanking of Taylor. The team faltered, however, losing their last 2 matches. On Friday the 13th, the golfers finished 14th in the keen competition of Little State.

Following the example of their Fall counterparts, the EC track team recorded an impressive 8—0 season. Starting the year with an easy victory on the indoor track at Rose Poly, the Quaker cindermen hit their stride when they captured the Rose Relays, beating eight other college teams. Led by Nat White, Bill Phillips, and Ron Morgan, the thin-clads swept the May Day Earlham Relays. A new EC record was set when John Foster put the shot 44'6½". The season's high-point man, Ron Morgan, took 2nd in the Little State 220 and 4th in the 100.

After Two Years' Lapse Volleyball Reappears

Volleyball reappeared on the EC varsity sports list this year, but the players found it difficult to form a team comparable to those of years past. Generally successful against college competition, Jack Bailey's team was usually out-classed by YMCA squads which, unfortunately, provided most of the scheduled games. Jerry Schieman led the team with his good passes and hard spikes and was largely responsible for EC's 2nd place in the Earlham Tournament.

Swimming was another varsity sport which made its debut at Earlham this year. Although the Quakers were unsuccessful in their four dual meets, the team and the coach, Phil Quigg, gained valuable experience in competition with strong opponents. Hopes are high for next year with veterans Dick Jefferson and Mike Kendall returning with most of the rest of the team.

With Mary Taylor as coach the hockey team enjoyed a good year. In the Miami Valley Tournament in Dayton six Earlham players were chosen for the Miami Valley Team to represent this region in the Great Lakes Tourney in Ann Arbor, where Barb Roberts was selected to play in the National Tournament held in Washington. With only one member graduating, the team should be in fine shape next year.

Girls Play Basketball and Volleyball Too

OOMPH!

L. Dierker; J. Burkham; G. Bowles; B. Berry; K. Hildreth; B. Roberts.

While practice did not always yield victory for the girls' volleyball team, the time spent in competition with teams from Ohio Wesleyan, Butler, and Wittenberg University did give the girls valuable experience. Led by Barb Berry the largely freshmen and sophomore team was coached by Mary Taylor.

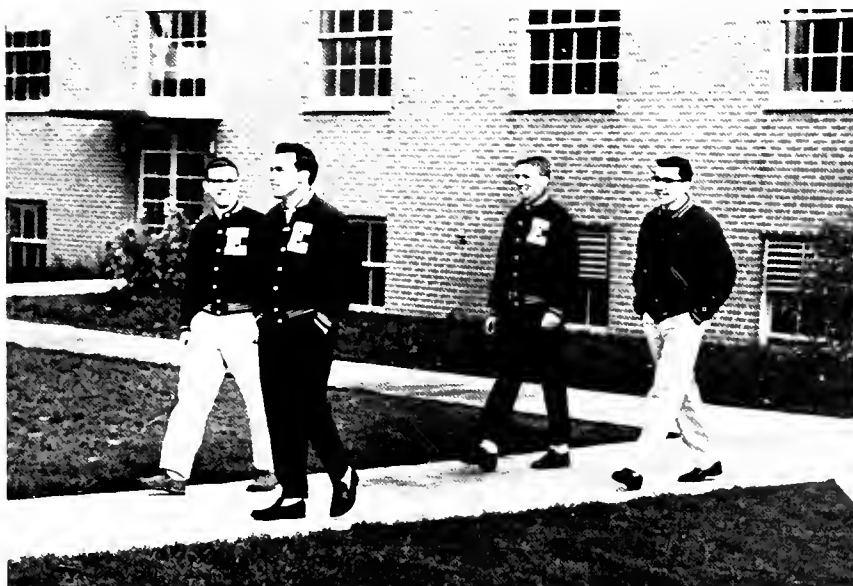

With Joan Michener as President, Bud Weber and Mary Taylor as advisors, the Women's Recreation Association sponsored "Hearts in the Snow," the St. Valentine's Day dance, and the All-College Song Fest, which was won by the Seniors. WRA, the co-ordinating body for women's intramural and varsity sports, awarded Margie Kingery the "EC Girl" award for her contributions to WRA and the Earlham Community.

WRA and "E" Men Sponsor and Organize Intramurals

J. Stauffer; B. Phillips; J. Gessaman; P. Meyer.

The promotion of intramural and intercollegiate athletics at EC is the purpose of the E Men's Club. Members help officiate at track meets, sell refreshments at athletic events and hold award ceremonies. This year at the Spring Award Banquet the E Men "blanket award" went to Bill Himelick, four year basketball forward.
